President, African Women
Lawyers Association (AWLA)

Dear Partner/Collaborator/ Sponsor/Donor/
Patron/Member,

Warm greetings from the African Women Lawyers Association (AWLA)! I trust you, yours, and your organization is doing well and keeping safe.

It is my pleasure to present AWLA's Projects Brochure for the year 2022-2027.

On behalf of AWLA and myself, we appreciate your support for the Association over the years without which we would not have achieved this much. I am glad to invite your continued support and partnership as we sustain our unrelenting efforts to impact lives, households, and communities, one at a time through our laudable initiatives in our commitment to impact women and children across communities.

We at AWLA are resolute to ending indignity to women and children and are poised to be the voice of the African Woman and Child.

We choose to challenge the status quo, unite to push the barriers, and unsettle the settled practice of abuse, violence, social-economic disenfranchisement, and all forms of discrimination against women and children which defies race, status, and class. However, African women and Children are worse hit. Side by side, we choose to unleash the potential of the African Woman and Child.

Under our watch, we are saying enough is enough! It is no longer business as usual, no longer resigning to fate, nor "Sidon dey look". It is time to speak out, speak up, and refuse to compromise. Yes, it is time to 'soro soke' and we are equipping women and children. We are committed to going the extra mile to protect, promote and preserve the rights and interests of the African woman and child. There cannot be justice and equity if total and unfettered access to Justice for the indigent, oppressed, and victimized are not readily available - free of charge.

AWLA PLEDGES FOR PARITY AND EQUITY.

Be a part of this great move to emancipate the African woman and child. CHOOSE A PROJECT TO FUND and/or support in kind on a quarterly, yearly basis as you go through our list of projects.

Thank you, so very much and warm regards.

Président, Association De
Femme Jurists Un Afrique

Cher partenaire/collaborateur/parrain/donateur/
mécène/membre,

Chaleureuses salutations de l'Association des femmes juristes africaines (AWLA)! J'ai confiance en vous, les vôtres et votre organisation se portent bien et restent en sécurité.

J'ai le plaisir de vous présenter la Brochure des Projets d'AWLA pour l'année 2022-2027.

Au nom de l'AWLA et de moi-même, nous apprécions votre soutien à l'Association au fil des ans sans lequel nous n'aurions pas accompli autant. Je suis heureux d'inviter votre soutien et votre partenariat continu alors que nous poursuivons nos efforts incessants pour avoir un impact sur les vies, les ménages et les communautés, un à la fois grâce à nos initiatives louables dans notre engagement à avoir un impact sur les femmes et les enfants dans toutes les communautés.

Chez AWLA, nous sommes déterminés à mettre fin à l'indignité envers les femmes et les enfants et sommes prêts à être la voix de la femme et de l'enfant africains.

Nous choisissons de remettre en question le statu quo, de nous unir pour repousser les barrières et de déstabiliser la pratique établie d'abus, de violence, de privation des droits sociaux et économiques et de toutes les formes de discrimination contre les femmes et les enfants qui défient la race, le statut et la classe. Cependant, les femmes et les enfants africains sont les plus touchés. Côte à côte, nous choisissons de libérer le potentiel de la Femme et de l'Enfant Africains.

Sous notre surveillance, nous disons assez c'est assez ! Il ne s'agit plus de business as usual, plus de résignation au destin, ni de « sidon dey look ». Il est temps de s'exprimer, de s'exprimer et de refuser de faire des compromis. Oui, il est temps de 'soro soke' et nous équipons les femmes et les enfants. Nous nous engageons à faire un effort supplémentaire pour protéger, promouvoir et préserver les droits et les intérêts de la femme et de l'enfant africains. Il ne peut y avoir de justice et d'équité si un accès total et sans entrave à la justice pour les indigents, les opprimés et les victimes n'est pas facilement disponible - gratuitement.

AWLA S'ENGAGE À LA PARITÉ ET À L'ÉQUITÉ.

Participez à ce grand mouvement d'émancipation de la femme et de l'enfant africains. CHOISISSEZ UN PROJET À FINANCER et/ou à soutenir en nature sur une base trimestrielle, annuelle au fur et à mesure que vous parcourez notre liste de projets. Merci beaucoup et cordialement.

From The Founder's Desk

BETTY MOULD-IDDRISU
Founder, African Women
Lawyers Association (AWLA)

I am delighted to welcome every single one of you to this 2022-2027 season and cycle of ENDING Domestic Violence. It promises to be impactful but only with your continued support.

I am honoured by the opportunity to meet so many women, male Champions and the organizations who have made achieving gender equality and promoting women's empowerment their passion. Your commitment generosity and dedication is truly inspiring.

Let me start by thanking the President - Mandy Demechi-Asagba, her able team and Country Representatives for flying the AWLA flag globally. It is also with great appreciation to our Patrons, Partners, Donors, Sponsors and Members for bringing us all so far. I am sincerely grateful for your support and wish you all the very best in all your endeavors.

I want to say up front that with your continued partnership and support, AWLA will surely be enabled to make the desired impact of eradicating violence against women. The Projects and Activities brochure sets the tone for the six years 2022-2027. The time for action is NOW. Discrimination and violence against women and girls have no place in this 21st century. Change is possible and change is happening. It is Time to Unsettle the Settled and Time to Un-connect the Connected.

On the global stage, there have been many major and newsworthy, achievements for gender quality. Female presidents and vices were elected, in Malawi, Liberia, Mauritius, Sudan, Ethiopia, Gabon, the African Union has elected its first-ever female chairperson and the WTO elected its first ever female Director General. However, such success stories were often overshadowed by stories of persistent and grave human rights violations of women and girls. In countries around the world, women and girls continue to be attacked, raped, maimed and killed. Yet, even out of these horrific and traumatic events we have seen significant changes: voices rising to say, "enough is enough"; gender advocates providing rallying cries - "Wake up!" "Take Action!" "Speak Out!" "Soro Soke" as an act of defiance against silence, indifference, impunity and injustice.

The world cannot afford the costs of violence against women and girls. Violence needs to stop. We need to take action NOW! Leave No One Behind, Make no mistake: otherwise there can be no peace, no progress, no development, no prosperity without the full and equal participation of women.

As we partner, we say NO to all forms of violence against women and children
No to early and forced marriage,
No to female genital mutilation,
No to Femicide,
No to Sexual violence,
No to Sexual Harassment,
No to Child Defilement
No to Trafficking,
No to violence condoned by the State,
No to violence against women in conflict situations and
No to obnoxious widowhood practices
No to Discrimination

NO NO AND NO TO VIOLENCE AGAINST WOMEN

STOP VIOLENCE AGAINST WOMEN!

Today as many as 7 in 10 women in the world report that they have experienced physical and/or sexual violence at some point in their lifetime. Granted that over 130 countries have laws that penalize domestic violence, for over 603 million women, domestic violence is still not a crime in their countries and or states. No country is immune to this human rights violation, and every country pays a price for these clogs to societal growth

There have been many positive developments in legal frameworks in many countries as a result of civil society activism. However implementation has been a serious problem. Now we must take on the challenge of implementation and accountability to give life to these laws, as well as test the efficacy of these laws otherwise, they'll be dead laws gathering dust on the shelves.

Thank you so very much as you commit to partner with AWLA to STOP violence against women and children today.

The Realities for the African women

Women represent more than half of the 1.2 billion African populations living on a total of 30.2 million km² and speaking up to 2,000 different native languages. African women are in charge of the majority of households and are key food producers. They represent more than 43 percent of the agricultural labour force, in addition to playing a major role in managing poultry, dairy animals, fisheries, aquaculture, and the marketing of handcrafts and food products. Sadly, the African women are mostly underserved, neglected and are usually the majority victims of Violence dehumanization, denials, unfavourable laws, cultural practices and patriarchy.

AWLA is committed to responding to these challenges and ensuring that women, youths and children have access to improved and sustainable healthcare services delivery, affordable and qualitative education, and are socio-economically empowered and given a seat and a voice at the decision table.

AWLA is poised to ensure the dignity of the African Woman and Child and give them a voice. AWLA, the Voice of the African Woman and Child.

Capacity Building Training for Members

Duration: Yearly Training of 10 Members for 6 years.

Project Focus: Capacity building trainings is designed to empower and develop individual members in series of short-term courses aimed at empowering AWLA to better perform internally and externally towards the community that we serve and our target market, ie Women and Children.

Program Objectives:

- Create awareness
- Transfer of skills and know-how
- Encourage and motivate the knowledge sharing between individual members

Some of the Capacity-Training courses we are looking at are:

1. Mediation Training:

MEDIATION is one of the core pillars of the ADR Process, the simplest and less technical of the ADR techniques. It is a structured, interactive process where an impartial third party assists parties in dispute in resolving their conflict through the use of specialized communication and negotiation techniques.

Mediation has been found invaluable in resolving family disputes, acknowledged by the courts and by statute as it is now a step in virtually all civil matters and especially family matters before the courts.

Hence the need to empower and train our Members to be mediators.

■ Project 19

Prevention & Protection of Youth Sex Workers

Africa has a large number of adolescents and youths living and making a living on the streets due to poverty, neglect, abandonment, rejection, and exposure to all forms of risk. Thus, the proliferation of prostitution among young Africans with its attendant multifarious problems. In recent times, young people, especially young girls, are directly targeted by rape culture, child defilement, socio-economic inequality, urban and illegal international migration, and sexual violence against minors are some of the root causes that explain the very high vulnerability of youth in the sex industry.

Available data reveal that youths have become the most lucrative and highest commercial value for the sex industry thereby sustaining the target on young people. Reports also underscore the urgent need to listen to young girls and women as they are more intricately affected by peddlers of the industry. Evidence reveals further that prostitution is not only a form of male violence against women, but also an industry that widens the gender inequality gap, economic equity to an unequal and negative representation of sexuality for young people, and silences choices in sexuality. The discriminatory nature of arrest, detention, and prosecution of female sex workers without their male sex partners guarantees the realities.

Coping mechanisms include endurance, self-medication, unprofessional/clandestine healthcare services delivery, and adaptation. The effects of prostitution include psychological traumas, Psychosocial damages, drug abuses, complicated health risks, inter alia. Sex work involves men from all socio-economic strata. While recognizing that globally male clients' are hard to count. Most intolerable is the open commercialization and dehumanization of female sex workers without reference to their male sex partner. This is the height of discrimination that must be addressed urgently.

To eliminate adolescent prostitution and empower young girls/women, the governments, legislations, policies, awareness programs, and sustainable community-based socio-economic interventions must be strategically activated. Through the social actions and participation of the African Women Lawyers Association (AWLA), interactions and advocacy reveal the urgent need for strategic and sustainable intervention to save the youths and children from this socio-economic menace destroying the future and adversely affecting our world today.

To this end, AWLA has decided to embark on this project to listen to the voices of young girls and women, educate and rescue them through a quarterly sensitization, training, and equipping program as well as advocacy for review of the law and practice relating to female sex workers.

■ Projet 19

Prévention Et Protection Des Jeunes Travailleurs Du Sexe

L'Afrique compte un grand nombre d'adolescents et de jeunes qui vivent et gagnent leur vie dans la rue en raison de la pauvreté, de la négligence, de l'abandon, du rejet et de l'exposition à toutes les formes de risque. Ainsi, la prolifération de la prostitution chez les jeunes Africains avec ses multiples problèmes qui l'accompagnent. Ces derniers temps, les jeunes, en particulier les jeunes filles, sont directement ciblés par la culture du viol, la souillure des enfants, les inégalités socio-économiques, les migrations internationales urbaines et illégales, et les violences sexuelles contre les mineurs sont quelques-unes des causes profondes qui expliquent la très grande vulnérabilité des jeunes dans l'industrie du sexe.

Les données disponibles révèlent que les jeunes sont devenus la valeur commerciale la plus lucrative et la plus élevée pour l'industrie du sexe, soutenant ainsi la cible sur les jeunes. Les rapports soulignent également le besoin urgent d'écouter les jeunes filles et les femmes car elles sont plus étroitement touchées par les colporteurs de l'industrie. Les preuves révèlent en outre que la prostitution n'est pas seulement une forme de violence masculine à l'égard des femmes, mais aussi une industrie qui élargit l'écart d'inégalité entre les sexes, l'équité économique à une représentation inégale et négative de la sexualité pour les jeunes, et fait taire les choix en matière de sexualité. La nature discriminatoire de l'arrestation, de la détention et de la poursuite des travailleuses du sexe sans leurs partenaires sexuels masculins garantit les réalités.

Les mécanismes d'adaptation comprennent l'endurance, l'automédication, la prestation de services de santé non professionnels/clandestins et l'adaptation. Les effets de la prostitution comprennent des traumatismes psychologiques, des dommages psychosociaux, des abus de drogues, des risques complexes pour la santé, entre autres. Le travail du sexe implique des hommes de toutes les couches socio-économiques. Tout en reconnaissant qu'il est difficile de compter les clients masculins dans le monde. Le plus intolérable est la commercialisation ouverte et la déshumanisation des travailleuses du sexe sans référence à leur partenaire sexuel masculin. C'est le comble de la discrimination qu'il faut combattre de toute urgence.

Pour éliminer la prostitution des adolescentes et autonomiser les jeunes filles/femmes, les gouvernements, les législations, les politiques, les programmes de sensibilisation et les interventions socio-économiques communautaires durables doivent être activés de manière stratégique. Grâce aux actions sociales et à la participation de l'Association des femmes juristes africaines (AWLA), les interactions et le plaidoyer révèlent le besoin urgent d'une intervention stratégique et durable pour sauver les jeunes et les enfants de cette menace socio-économique qui détruit l'avenir et affecte négativement notre monde d'aujourd'hui.

À cette fin, AWLA a décidé de se lancer dans ce projet pour écouter la voix des jeunes filles et des femmes, les éduquer et les secourir à travers un programme trimestriel de sensibilisation, de formation et d'équipement ainsi qu'un plaidoyer pour la révision de la loi et des pratiques relatives à travailleuses du sexe.

■ Project 21

Bold

Length of Project: 12 Months

Budget: €25,000

Project location/place where the project will run: Kirikiri, Apapa, Lagos.

4. The overall aim of the project is to support at least 125 young women and girls through literacy education, skill acquisition, mentorship, and income generation activities. The project aims to facilitate beneficiaries to develop the skills and character ready and willing to improve their lives and steer their visions with a focus on achieving set individual goals.
5. The main problem or problems the project is trying to solve? Including statistics on the issues highlighted.

It is estimated that over 60% of girls in the target community are violated before the age of 10; over 35% of the girls drop out of school before they complete genuine secondary school; Over 200 are widows and more than 40% are single mothers.

Kirikiri, a densely populated town in Apapa, Lagos with some industrial presence, mostly haulage services providers. The community is home to the most notorious prison in Nigeria - the medium and maximum security Kirikiri prisons. The prevalent economic conditions in Kirikiri community and its surrounding neighborhood are one of abject poverty.

Many of the residents are incapable of 2 meals per day. The inequalities, height of marginalization, and deprivations are intolerable. Women, girls, and children are the worst victims. With girl-mothers, rape survivors, poor education, and nearly no sustainable economic activities for most women and girls, the community is sadly also notorious for its poor access to Water, Sanitation and Hygiene (WASH) infrastructure and generally poor quality of life. Health care services delivery is mostly in the hands of patent medicine dealers with little or no government regulation. The community almost guarantees a breeding ground for criminals if nothing is done urgently.

6. We identified the need for this project and people to be involved during one of AWLA's community sensitization programs on Eliminating All Forms of Violence against Women (VAW) in Kirikiri community, the AWLA team saw a high number of pregnant girls and single young mothers. The community has jobless youths; substance abuse and addiction were the norms for most youths in the community. Some of the pregnant girls include some as young as 11 years old. The community is littered with abandoned children and very poor mothers who could barely feed.

In one of those AWLA team visits, the team witnessed one of the young men stab a pregnant girl and her mum for daring to demand money to feed and register for antenatal. The AWLA team intervened right on the spot. Our intervention revealed a terrible state of violence and insecurity, gender-based violence; it was a survival for the hard-hearted, most mean and the perpetrators of violence in the community are bold. It was a jungle life.

■ Project 21

Bold

The AWLA intervention included educating the community members on the law against domestic violence and the benefits of treating women and girls with dignity and gender parity.

The outcome of the intervention included the community members requesting that we repeat the visit and sustain interventions that will help them break free from the social ills and economically empower them. Multiple meetings were held with the community leaders, including with the women and youth groups to fashion interest and possible approaches to mitigating some of the challenges the community faces.

7. The main people targeted or groups (groups we will help directly through the project) in the table below with the number of men and women in each group.
